Have Your New $250. Hat Made by a Real Countess Who is a friend of the King.

Countess Fabricotti.

London May 18.

Princess Hatzfeldt.

IT'S the thing to stop to a, the Countess Fabricotti, on South Monmouth street, do not know. Quite the fact of the matter, every woman has been there or is going there—there is, every woman who takes a pride in her hats. They come in streams—the Princess Hatzfeldt, the Duchess of Marlborough, Mrs. Jack Leslie, Lady Vivian, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, etc.—the King's set, and even the Queen's.

It looks like a reception, inside a line of carriages; inside a line of people who all know each other. They go in for nothing, the doors are thrown open to them by uniformed lackeys, but it costs them fabulous sums to get out.

Inside temptation is rampant in every sort and form of hat—hats of tulle, hats of mink, hats of velvet, feathered hats, flowered hats, jeweled hats. Such hats.

Each and every one is marked with the Fabricotti seal of arms. The seal of a Countess on the inside! And the approval of a Countess on the outside! Ah, well! one has to pay for one's distinction, and one is willing.

Simple little toques that might be had elsewhere, at just a mere milliner's for instance, for twelve or fifteen dollars, are worth here $250.

A little extra bought at the Countess's, do not know!

The exact and distinction of the place are considered so great that no price seems exorbitant.

And how she piles it on, the Lady Countess! She has studied the art in Paris at Vivat's.

Was it into the fair one who turns to her carefully and says, "Don't you think, dear Countess, this hat made another enough attention to buy the tongue of gossip, August Belmont was declared to be interested. How was Belmont, indeed, or matrimony—sometimes the world get mixed.

And when the bill is sent in the hat is $250—so be two hundred or so; the bit of a way feather another fifty or so, and extra advice from the Countess—well, it just depends upon how long she has served you, and how much of a doubt you have cast upon her creation in the original conception. Consulting with a Countess is expensive.

"You see, she's one of us," explained one of her best friends, "and her opinion is worth having. You whisper in her ear that you are going to Lady Chesham's garden party or Mrs. Ronald Grenville's fête and she knows just the effect you should produce. She's been there herself—and that's not slang, either."

The Countess Comes to Trade.

The Countess numbered more than a year ago that she must choose between millinery and matrimony. She made it no secret that she preferred the latter, just as she announced the fact that poverty was driving her headlong toward one or the other.

She was at that time thirty-five. By the end of another year she declared she must go into business of some sort if something to America to look for the something else.

She didn't care to. Meanwhile, she came to the late William C. Whitney paid her a visit. August Belmont was declared to be interested. How was Belmont, indeed, or matrimony—sometimes the world get mixed.

And when the bill is sent in the hat is $250—so be two hundred or so; the bit of beautiful and of Irish descent she was noble and divorced. The Count was an Italian, and since she was an angel of course he was a brute.

The Countess was made much of here, but still not enough of, for she went back to London. The situation had become serious, truly. There was nothing in the bank, a host of friends, an army of patrons, the King's approval and William Waldorf Astor's—countess's friends. "We will back you, and Mrs. Ronald Grenville will ask Mrs. George Reppe to ask the King to ask the Queen."

Nothing more was needed. Matrimony had failed so far; the lady is still young as she was now, and now most importantly advised. She has even had an ode written to her by her dear friend, William Waldorf Astor, an ode in the form of a parody on "The Charge of the Light Brigade." She is to move on and she is planned to have a coronet for his pupil, he was pleased to instruct her.

other. Then you hear the Princess Hatzfeldt exclaim: 'Ah, so glad to see you—ain't the Countess a dear?' Yes, of course, her hats are just the thing."

She has started on her journey. Wickedly Ingenious Plan ernment Property Sweep the Czar and

St. Petersburg, May 6:—
The few drops of news which leak through the censor's barriers give little conception of the seething cauldron of revolutionary risk, pillage and murder which now boils hotly even in the re-motest corners of the Russian Empire. In spite of every precaution some bits of information of the widespread disorders reach the public, but much that is going on is not yet known even to the Government authorities. To many of the distant provinces there are no lines of communication, and not till the breaking up of winter, when the roads become passable, will the whole truth be known.

But the worst is yet to come, for the agents of the Revolutionists have hinted the peasants to adopt a measure the full consequences of which no man can now pretend to predict. The peasants have been pledged to do no work on the land this spring; they have sworn to do no planting of crops when the sowing time comes. The wicked cunning of this measure becomes apparent when it is remembered that in many parts of Russia a full crop barely supports the crowded population in fortunate years. In the Province of Poltava, for example, 2,000,000 people have an acreage of only 4,000,000 families of land, which is hardly enough to support the population. Their living is short out from the Government granaries. But these economies of food have been broken into and pillaged this year, and so crop whatever will be harvested this summer.

The Revolutionists are counting on the desperation of starvation to add fuel to the present spirit of discontent. Smoldering under the ashes of famine, the unsatisfied desire of revolt will be fanned into flames which are expected to sweep the Czar from his throne and drive the autocrats of the Government into exile.
The boldness of the peasantry has already, even at this early stage, been shown. Government distilleries, sugar refineries, private estates, the city dwellings of the nobles have been attacked, stripped of every article of value and burned. A month ago the Czar's own imperial villa in the Crimea was burned to the ground by a mob. This was his Majesty's favorite place of retirement, where he went in 1900 for his convalescence from his attack of typhoid fever.

Waning Loyalty to the Czar
With the growth of the spirit of revolution has come the loss of personal loyalty to the Czar. In years past the person and the belongings of the Emperor were regarded as sacred by the peasantry; his only fear was from the weapon of a Nihilist. But this is no longer true. There is no province in the Empire where the Czar would ever dare trust his life among the peasantry.

Realizing this, the Czar and the Imperial family are now taken to the most extraordinary measures to protect themselves. The most extraordinary measures have been taken to surround the Czar and the royal household with every possible safeguard. The risk of severer and suspicion to which the Imperial family is subjected on account of threats of personal violence is falling on all of them, but particularly on the Czar's little girls, who are no longer allowed to go out with their usual companions about the mansion, but are kept in the palace.

The Czar himself ordered that the children never be allowed outside the palace doors when he is taking the air. Remembering the sad fate of the little Princess of Hesse, who was killed by the dome of a palace tended for him, he fears he would risk his children's lives if he should go out in their company.

The Dowager Czarina, who learned to cook while protecting the life of her husband, Alexander III, has once more taken her place in the kitchen. She is assisted by an expert chef, and has a little herd of dogs, common, everyday mongrels, rabbits and sheep to guard the entrance. Preferably the Imperial family uses only groceries, which etc., that come in sealed boxes from Berlin, London and other capitals. Native goods receive a double test. First, the chemist takes them in hand; secondly, quantities are fed to the various "trial animals." If the chemist and the rabbits agree that the stuff is non-dangerous, then the Czar and his little family are permitted to eat in comfort.

At St. St. Petersburg the Czar has dispensed with game, of which he is remarkably fond, as it would be very easy to poison the gamestake in transit. To obtain fresh meats without troubling St.
Petersburg butchers who might be bribed or seduced, a herd of cattle, sheep, calves and sheep has been installed in the country palace.
The Czar's body Comdants do the butchering, and the meat is kept in refrigerators under double guard, like the crown jewels.

Every Servant is Suspected.
The Czarina herself has no rest, either by day or night. The greatest part of her Imperial Majesty's time is filled in consoling her husband and in imploring him with tears. Besides this she must concern herself with every trifling. She assists at every detail of the Czar's toilet as would the German wife of some small citizen, since the Czar mistrusts every act of his servants; she superintends the tailor and laundress, as well as the barber, and besides this she attends to every want of her infant son, whom she rears herself.

Formerly she left but little for the nurses to do, undertaking everything herself. Now she scarcely allows the female attendants to approach the baby's cradle. Even if she would she cannot, as the Czar has greater fear for his son than for himself.

It has become almost a fixed idea with the Czar that the loss of his son, whom he so long and anxiously expected, would cause the outbreak of a revolution in every corner of the empire, even among Conservatives, and for this reason every one in any way connected with the Imperial family is surrounded by a second guard, who in their turn are watched by a second guard.

GETTING READY FOR THE WEDDING DAY.

The Third in a New Series on Etiquette by Linda Hull Larned, Author of "The Hostess of To-day."

The hour, day, date and the kind of we will suppose the ceremony to take place the tresson and the home reception. No function is to be as decided upon by the church and a breakfast or reception at occasionally, when guests are a great number, it is always the practice to have the home immediately after the church. The father or the mother—mother usually—this expenditure, but it must be all the—attends to securing the church, and the sub work, as it is really not the correct father pays the action for opening the procedure.

by the bridegroom for usher. The bride's attire or most intimate friend should be made of honor, and the bridegroom depends upon him, the closest, to see him to the church, and he has the most difficult job of it. Upon him devolves the duty of attending to everything for the bridegroom in order that he may be free for love-making during the pre-nuptial period. Those who are invited to the wedding are often divided into two groups—the sleep and the guests. This is often a relief to the guests, for unless the breakfast or reception at home be confined to relatives, they do not have to attend parents and do not feel obliged to attend the ceremony. People do not feel that they belong to one time or the other unless there be a reception of some magnitude at the house to which they are not invited. So it is far better to invite all one's friends to both the church and the reception, or invite them all to the church and confine the home function to the family. This will hurt no one's feelings and give the happy pair a better start in life on the social platform.

The Father Secures the Church
The invitations should be sent out two or three weeks before the event—usually three weeks—and if they are a long time being engraved, the envelopes, both inside and outside, may be addressed to the bride. These are paid for by the bride's father. The outside envelope is addressed to "Mr. James J. Black," followed by the bride's number and city, but many authorities say it should be "Mr." and the inside envelope is addressed "Mr. and Mrs. James J. Black." The reason we say that the outside envelope should be addressed to the bride's father is that usually attends to all social matters for them both, and therefore looking after invitations is her special duty.

The only exception to this is when the invited is a business acquaintance only. Then the outside envelope is addressed to the bride and the inside envelope to the bride. Invitations are sent to the Misses Black but not to the Messrs. Black. Each male in a family, even if he be a boy, receives his own invitation. It is not necessary to give the formal announcements here, for every first-class stationer is prepared to meet these duties in the latest and most correct style. At large church weddings the ticket of admission is used, and no one is admitted who does not present one of these tickets. Of course those who are well known to the ushers do not have to bother to take a ticket. If extremely kind and for any one to push to see, out of courtesy, they should take a ticket. Ushers who are in the pews reserved for the family should have some conspicuous place in the church, and it is hoped that at New York weddings recently by liberal and elegant women, and it is hoped that

HOW TO MAKE A BABY'S BASSINET AND DRESSING BASKET.

THIS making of a baby's bassinet is one of the most fascinating occupations of womanhood, it is in fact a most interesting and useful work. When one is rich the bassinet is usually made of silver, but for the average woman cannot possibly afford the sort of bassinet which becomes a thing for their friends and relatives. The baby's bassinet should be made of really cheap materials and of a sort that any woman can make. The material can be more expensive, but the work is just what it should be.

Into the basket the baby's form is tucked before he has time to more than scream a protest at the arrival of his new dress and his new friends. Cut out the doggie and fold both views of the hind legs upward on the lines A. Fold both views of the forward section upward on the lines X. Fold at the feet and paste the hind leg section together as far as A. Paste the head together as far as the lower line of the collar, paste the front legs together up to the body, and paste the dog's chest together by the extreme edge. Paste the dotted tabs over the letters D. Dry thoroughly and cross the lines A and X again so they shall be very sharp. Cut away the small squares containing the letters. Insert the back section of the dog inside the hollow front section of the body, letting the middle of the body fall in as it will, and you have a bull terrier. Pull out and you have a dach-hund.

BOSTON AMERICAN, SUNDAY, MAY 21, 1905.

A political cartoon by Robert Carter. Uncle Sam, dressed in his traditional attire with a top hat and striped pants, stands behind a rustic wooden fence. He is looking down at a large, portly pig that is eating from a wooden trough. The pig's back is covered in dollar signs ($), and the words "PRIVATE OWNERSHIP" are written on its side. The trough it is eating from is labeled "PUBLIC WEALTH". Uncle Sam is holding a pipe in his mouth and a cigar in his hand. The scene is set outdoors with some foliage in the background. The artist's signature "ROBERT CARTER" is in the bottom left corner.

THEIR RIGHTS, they don't deserve to get them. There is much sad truth in the saying that a people gets as good a government as it deserves.

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

IMMORTAL Life is something to be earned
By slow self conquest, comradeship with pain
And patient seeking after higher truths.
We cannot follow our own wayward wills
And feed our baser appetites and give Loose reins to foolish tempers year on year,
And then cry "Lord forgive me, I believe
And straightaway bathe in glory. Men must learn God's system is too great a thing for that.
The spark divine dwells in each soul, and we Can fan it to a steady flame of light
Whose lustre gilds the pathway to the tomb
And shines on through Eternity, or else;
Neglect it till it simmers down to death
And leaves us but the darkness of the grave.
Each conquered passion feeds the living flame;
Each well borne sorrow is a step toward God.
Faith cannot rescue and no blood redeem
The soul that will not reason and resolve.
Lean on thyself, yet prop thyself with Prayer;
For there are spirits, Messengers of Light
Who come at call and fortify thy strength.
Make friends with them and with thine inner self,
Cast out all envy, bitterness and hate
And keep the mind's fair tabernacle pure.
Shake hands with pain, give greeting unto grief,
Those Angels in disguise and thy glad soul
From height to height, from star to shining star
Shall climb, and claim best immortality.

Women Who Are Free From Female
Ills Sleep Soundly

Women Who Are Free From Female Ills Sleep Soundly

Points to the Cause

How many women are troubled with insomnia! How few, alas, habitually sleep the night through and rise refreshed.

If you can't sleep it is because your nerves will not let your body rest. Women's nervous troubles come from female diseases. Their delicate organism is a network of intricate nerves. No woman can suffer from female irregularities without eventually ruining her nervous system. Get rid of female disease and the perfect sleep of childhood will return.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

cures all female troubles and restores nerve equilibrium and brings sound, restful, healthful, natural sleep. Thus does this wonderful remedy operate to bring health to suffering women.

Wakefulness and Nervousness Cured

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Last spring, I lost my appetite, had headaches, and bearing down pains with cramps so that I was in perfect misery. I became wakeful and extremely nervous.

I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and am pleased to state that I derived immediate benefit and soon enjoyed permanent relief.

Within eight weeks I was restored to normal health and felt refreshed and strengthened as though I had enjoyed a lengthy vacation.

Since that time I have recommended your Compound to a number of my faithful friends suffering with female irregularities, and those who have used it report that they have derived the same benefits from it.

Yours truly,
MRS. E. E. VAN DORT.

965 College Ave., Appleton, Wis.

DO YOU WANT A SET OF BOOKS LIKE THIS?

THE NEW STANDARD ENCYCLOPEDIA

Selected for the American Club because it is absolutely new, complete and up-to-date—not a rehash of some obsolete foreign work.

It completes the story of human achievement. It is a Gazetteer of worldwide information. It is edited down to the present day. It was compiled by the world's ablest specialists.

12 large volumes 900,000 topics 8,500 pages 150 colored maps 55,000 articles 3,000 illustrations NUMEROUS COLORED PLATES The equivalent of 100,000 volumes boiled down and condensed.

It was written by Practical Men. It is designed for home study. It is built along American lines. It is suitable for young people.

MAIL COUPON BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.

The American Club desires to show what can be accomplished by Co-operation. Hereafter first-class Encyclopedias have been published in 12 sets which only the rich could afford to pay. By guaranteeing to dispose of an entire edition, the American was able to make arrangements with the publishers of the New Standard Encyclopedia for a limited number of sets, to be supplied to our readers and friends at about the actual cost of production and on terms that will not embarrass any. The time can thus act as a purchasing agent, representing both the publishers and the public. Committed to the public, the American Club can promise, all middle profits being eliminated. The success of the enterprise has far exceeded our expectations. The number of sets now on hand has already been distributed. If you need an encyclopedia, either for yourself or for your family, do not fail to take advantage of this opportunity. You can do the same. You can grasp the opportunity before it is too late.

Amazing Disclosures Follow Grace Darby's Escape from Taunton---Investigation Now Certain

(For her own story, Chapter 3, "Five Years in a Madhouse," see Page 32)

ASYLUM IS WITHOUT A HEAD; JOHN P. BROWN CAN'T BE FOUND!

Startling Statements Regarding Lack of Proper Management at the Hospital.

The amazing revelations regarding the conduct of the Taunton Insane Asylum, brought about by the attention given the escape of Grace E. H. Darby, the beautiful girl who has been an inmate of that institution for five years, although every nurse with whom she has come in contact in that time says she is sane, and alienists of great repute say they would not commit her to an asylum if she were before them now, led far to reach their climax in a thorough investigation of that institution, and perhaps of all the other hospitals for the care of lunatics in the State.

Startling statements have been made regarding the lack of proper management at the hospital—statements brought forward by the publicity given the case of Miss Darby, but in no way connected with it.

One of the most interesting of these appears to-day on the authority of A. Fred DeVere, a Taunton citizen whose wife has been confined at the hospital, and who says that the treatment she has received resulted in his removing her from there yesterday. Mr. DeVere is a sign painter in Taunton, where he has resided for more than ten years, a citizen of standing, somewhat identified with political affairs, and regarded as being entirely veracious.

In an affidavit, which appears elsewhere in this paper, Mr. DeVere swears that during the eighteen months his wife has been confined in the Taunton Insane Asylum he has endeavored to see the superintendent, Dr. John P. Brown, not less than thirty and probably forty times; that he has never been able to see Dr. Brown, and that he firmly believes that Dr. Brown, at least as active superintendent of the Taunton Insane Asylum, is a myth.

Not Seen in Two Years.

A nurse employed in the Taunton Asylum informed the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN, yesterday, that in two years she had not seen Dr. Brown, and that she knew a fellow attendant who had not seen him for more than two years. She said some of the attendants question whether Dr. Brown is actually there. Whether there or not, it seems to be the unanimous agreement among attendants that Dr. Brown is at all intents and purposes the executive head of the hospital.

NO RESPONSIBLE HEAD.

Thus, with Dr. Brown missing from the wards, whether ill in his bed or otherwise unable to attend to his duties, his work falls upon Dr. Goss, who is neither engaged for that responsible position, nor responsible to the State for the carrying out of its various duties. The result is a great waste of money, building more than one thousand unfortunate wards of the State with no one in actual power (who may be held to account—a institution without a head.

The chapter of Grace Darby's own story, appearing in this paper, concerns her five years of life in this asylum and the statements she makes regarding the treatment accorded her by the various attendants.

The State Board of Lunacy has at last taken cognizance of the public outcry for a reorganization of the Taunton Asylum, and has decided to send a commission to investigate the case. The commission will consist of a representative of the State, a representative of the public, and a representative of the medical profession. The commission will be charged with the duty of investigating the case, and of making a report to the State Board of Lunacy.

SWEARS HE BELIEVES BROWN A MYTH AS HEAD OF ASYLUM

SUFFOLK, SS., May 20, 1905.

A. Fred DeVere, of Taunton, in the County of Bristol, personally appeared before me, made oath, and deposed as follows:

I am a resident of Taunton and the husband of Harriet DeVere, who was committed to the Taunton Insane Asylum eighteen months ago. Since the date of her commitment I have had occasion to feel that she was not receiving proper treatment in the asylum, and I have called at the asylum at least thirty and perhaps forty times in an endeavor to see Dr. John P. Brown, superintendent of the institution. I have invariably called for him, and have never seen him, being always obliged to do my business either with Dr. Goss, or with Mr. Dr. Abbott, although it was frequently business that he should have attended to personally. It is my firm belief that Dr. Brown is either not in a condition to attend to the business of his position, or that he is not at the asylum; that Dr. Brown, as active superintendent of the Taunton Insane Asylum, is a myth.

(Signed) A. FRED DEVERE.
The above was sworn to before me, and the same was read to the witness, and he acknowledged the same to be true.

THE REAL GRACE DARBY.

First photograph of Grace Darby taken when she came from the Taunton Asylum. This and the other pictures in this edition of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN are the only good photographs of her ever taken. All other alleged likenesses of her printed in other Boston newspapers are sketches made from an old and poor photograph, which appeared in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN last Sunday.

FIVE YEARS IN A MAD HOUSE---GRACE DARBY'S AMAZING STORY

GRACE DARBY TELLING OF FRANK DARBY'S LIFE IN THE ASYLUM.

DR. GOSS SAID THAT GIRL WILL MAKE TROUBLE FOR US YET. HE WAS A PROPHET.

Sufferings of Her Life in Midst of Lunatics Described by Girl Long a Taunton Inmate.

In. Maybe it was only because they are careless, and don't let many people get away after they have got in.

It is very easy to get into an insane asylum in Massachusetts. It is a different thing to get out (to get out "right," I mean).

Most of the women attendants were nice girls and were good to the inmates. It was quite seldom that there would be any roughness or brutality in my ward, because, as I have said, it was a very mild ward. I have seen things done in some of the lower wards—wards with lower numbers, that means—that were terrible.

I saw in one of the wards, once, a sheet put over a woman's head, and two attendants dragged her up and down the corridor until she had no strength left. I have heard of a great many things being done in different parts of the building. As I did not see them myself, I will not repeat the stories. Let people tell of what they know.

News doesn't travel very fast in the asylum. The attendants are not allowed to talk, even among themselves, of what goes on in there, and there are always spies about, both in the grounds and out around the town, who will run back and report them if they say anything that might hurt the place in any way.

I heard one the girls say one day a little while ago—one of the attendants—that if Russia had as good a secret service as the management of the Taunton Insane Asylum, Japan would have been whipped long ago.

Worked Like a Slave Three Years.

It takes a long time for inmates in one part of the asylum to hear what happens in any other ward. I used to hear about a lot of things—but you must remember that most all the attendants were my friends, and I will not repeat the things they told me, because I might get them into trouble.

I don't know how it happened that I had so many friends among the nurses. Most of all they seemed to like me, and I liked a great many of them. They all told me they knew I was all right and ought to get out, and when they left quite a few of them told me to be sure to come and visit them when I did get out. That is how it happens that I have been in and near Boston during the past week or two, and am now going to where am I going?

For three years I worked like a slave and made no effort to escape. I used to believe that some fine day I would be told they were going to let me go. I didn't know the Taunton Asylum then as well as I do now.

I asked Dr. Brown once to look into my case. It is quite an event when Dr. Brown is seen about the asylum. He was very sharp to me and said "Well" without a second's consideration. There were a few times after that I saw him and spoke to him about the possibility of being allowed to go. He always answered harshly to me. I'll say that for him. He never gave me any encouragement.

It always seemed to me as if he must have some special reason for wanting me to remain in the asylum, but that seemed hardly probable, because I couldn't have amounted to much in his eyes. He was always cross to me, though, and I never could explain it. I can't now.

"This Girl Must Be Watched."

After three years I made up my mind I would escape, and I arranged to get a key. Naturally I'm not going to say who got it for me, but it was secured and sent in to me in a newspaper. An attendant who wasn't a friend of mine got it and reported it. It was a long time after that before I had another chance.

Mr. Dr. Abbott, who is in charge of the women's wards, talked to me very severely. "This isn't the way to do," he said. "When you get out you want to get out right; not that way. Now I want you to remember that: Never let anybody give you a key again, and never trust anybody who wants to help you to get out in any way except when you are discharged as cured. If anybody offers to help you to get out, you must remember you are no friend of mine. No friend of yours would try to get you out of here, no true friend, anyway."

Of course I listened to her as dumb as I could.

"Why did you ever try to do it?" she asked me. "How did you come to do it?"

"I didn't see any chance of getting out any other way," I said.

"When it's proper for you to go away well let you go," she said.

The matter of my trying to escape was reported to Dr. Gross, who is in charge when Dr. Brown isn't around, which is most of the time. Dr. Gross talked to one of the attendants about it.

"This girl must be watched," he said to her, "she will make trouble for us yet."

"THIS HAS BEEN LIKE A GAME OF HIDE AND SEEK."

GRACE DARBY AS SHE LOOKS TO-DAY

Photographs posed for a Boston American camera man.

Study these human documents and decide for yourself whether the officials of the Taunton asylum were justified in holding her a prisoner for five years. All of the nurses who have cared for her pronounce her of perfectly sound mind, and two eminent alienists who examined her at the request of the BOSTON AMERICAN declare their belief that she is sane.

He didn't know, of course, that he was talking to a friend of mine. But he was a prophet, just the same. I did read in the AMERICAN the other day that an attendant said I was slow to make friends with the nurses, but when I made a friendship it was a warm one. I am glad to be friends with people. I don't like to suspect them of being treacherous. But I had to be slow to make friends, especially after threats that told me about the key. I studied every new nurse that came there, and before she ever received the least bit of my confidence I made up my mind whether she was entirely to be trusted, or whether she was one of the spies.

Made Impression of Key in Soap.

Evidently I didn't make any mistake in my choice of friends during the last two years.

From the minute they prevented me from getting that key I had one purpose in my mind—to get away. After three years, during which I had heard of nothing being done for my release, I realized that if I ever escaped from that terrible place I must do it myself.

I used to myself, "Some night I am going to unlock all these doors and go away. And the next time I try it it will not fail me."

There aren't any spare moments for the workers in the asylum; for me there were less than for most of the others, because when I had done my stint for the asylum, in the morning, there were dishes and fancy work and things to be made for Mrs. Abbott's personal use. But during every moment that I didn't have to make my work I revolved the idea in my mind: "How shall I get out?"

I had read about taking impressions of keys in wax and having others make like them. I thought I could do it if I had the wax, but I didn't know where to get any of the right kind. Sewing was all I had access to and I couldn't do it with that.

When I went to school, away back in the days in West Manchester, when I was a "chubby child," there was a time we used to write in the writing books. It said: "Necessity is the mother of invention." I remember it now, although I hadn't on the day when it came to my mind to use soap.

I got the soap and then I got the key. It was a key to ward 9, such a key as all the attendants in that ward carry. Where I got it for a long enough period to make the impression in the soap I won't say. It was a long time ago, but I shall never tell, just the same.

I hid the soap with the impression in my stocking and carried it there for months.

There was a fire that partially destroyed the wing where ward 9 is. I lost a lot of pictures and things, but that fire was the cause of my final release. After the authorities had decided on having the wing rebuilt workmen came to do the work. There were carpenters, masons, bricklayers, plumbers, and they were at work there quite a while.

Lawyer Tried to See Her in Vain.

There was a man among the carpenters—a man sixty years old. He took a sort of fatherly interest in me. I met him in the grounds and in the building. We struck up a speaking acquaintance. He had lasted a week, when one day, as he was going somewhere or other, he said, "Don't you want to see what the fire did here?" I said, "I can't go in there."

"Why not?" said he. "Because we mustn't go into other wards than our own."

"Aren't you an attendant?" he asked, surprised. "No, sir," said I, "I am a patient."

He took an interest in me and we had quite a number of talks. He told his

The Machine-Made Dresses

(Trade Mark Registered)

70 Styles from 1.00 to 5.00

They are designed as carefully, fit as well and have the same correct lines as high-priced suits.

Dress like picture 3.00

The low prices at which we sell them are possible because the labor-saving possibilities in making are used to the utmost.

- I—They are cut by long knives, 10 times as fast as can be done with a hand.
- II—They are cut by long knives, 10 times as fast as can be done with a hand.
- III—Every part of the putting together, even the sewing on of the buttons, is done on high-speed machines.
- IV—The material is bought in large quantities at the first mill cost, and the patterns are changed as fast as available new ones can be found. In order that none shall be above common.

The style of these dresses could be equalled only by the very best dressmakers, who would charge more for the making alone (to say nothing of the cost of material) than the prices at which we sell them.

LIQUID—POWDER—PASTE

This old and valuable dentifrice has successfully withstood the test of sixty years in the vast and varied markets of the world. The people of every nationality know SOZODONT; millions of them use it upon the advice and prescription of the best dentists. As a tooth tonic it is unequalled; as a breath purifier it reigns supreme.

Unknown and untried dentifrices are tremendous factors in the destruction of the teeth. The employment of pumice, quartz, cuttle-fish bone, alum and acids is common in the manufacture of what are known as cheap dentifrices.

Can you afford to trifle with your teeth by using such stuff?

A very prominent dentist says about Sozodont:

From a careful study and investigation of dentifrices generally, I have not found any wash which contains so many admirable properties for the purposes intended as Sozodont. I have found Sozodont a specific desiccant, having antiseptic qualities, that were a revelation to me in my clinical experiments. This preparation is the property of over-sharing the activity frequently found in the mouth, and in this particular I find Sozodont invaluable, taken in connection with the fact that it is not too alkaline, but sufficiently so to make the preparation not only distinctly beneficial as stated, but also agreeable to the patient. In months that have been tried with fillings, crowns or bridge-work, Sozodont acts as a specific in preserving such operations. The Sozodont Tooth Powder and Sozodont Tooth Paste seem to be equal to the liquid in merit, and have been effectively and harmlessly employed by me in removing stains and in preventing depositions of calcareous deposits upon or between the teeth.

How to Make the Money You MUST Spend--and Cannot Save--Earn 6% Dividends

If you put what money you save in a savings bank, or invest it properly in other ways, it earns from 3 to 6 per cent. for you each year.

What about the money you cannot save—that you must spend to live—that buys the necessities of life for yourself or your family; that weekly portion of your income which you expend that you and yours may be properly clothed and that your home may be comfortable?

We'll show you how to make it earn you 6 per cent!

We will give you (send it by mail or hand it to you when you ask for it at this store) a little book. It entitles you to a cash discount of 6 per cent. on each yard of fabrics—each article of clothing or millinery—each article of house furnishings, be it rug or carpet or curtain or furniture—that you buy at this store.

That discount we pay in gold, hard cash, whenever your book shows that you have purchased goods amounting to $50 (or any multiple of that sum).

When your occasional purchases amount to $50, we refund $5. When they amount to $500 we return $50.

That's a 6 per cent. dividend, paid on the money you can't help spending—and it's worth saving. No "trading stamp scheme" about this—no gift, wobbly-legged lamps, or pink and yellow jardiniere premiums.

Instead of this—money—that you may put in the bank or invest as you please. And, with all this, the knowledge that nowhere (in Boston or any other spot on this earth) will your money purchase better or more modish merchandise.

Now if you want one of our discount books, either stop at our store or drop us a postal card. If you send the card to-day the book will start back by return mail. If you wish additional books, to give to friends, ask for them—we'll send them.

Very truly yours, PITTS-KIMBALL CO., Boston, Mass., May 21. (See our advertisement on Page 52) Washington Street, Next to Park Theatre

Special Call to Sunday Americans
Paris, May 20.—Madame Sarah Bernhardt is at it again. This time her quarrel is with Coquelin.

The famous diva of the role of Cyrano de Bergerac has announced that he would play "Alcibiade" in his forthcoming American tour. Madame Bernhardt has raised objections, declaring the exploits of Alcibiade to be the product of Rodstad's fiction.

"Alcibiade," she said, "you create. The Alcibiade that I saw the original French play was a comedy. It was a comedy, where I saw a second to last of the books of Rodstad. I have an equal right."

Both have written to Rodstad, and both say it is his right to play the part. But Bernhardt and Coquelin will both play. The play will be a comedy.

For the cure of those CHRONIC WEAKNESSES AND Complaints of Females

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO, N.Y.

A Real Doctor's Prescription FOR THE DISTRESSING COMPLAINTS AND DISEASES OF WOMEN.

What the Most Eminent Medical Authorities Say of the Ingredients Contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, WHICH ARE:

LADY'S SLIPPER (Cypripedium Pubescens)
BLACK COHOSH (Cimicifuga Racemosa)
UNICORN ROOT (Chamaelirium Luteum)
BLUE COHOSH (Caulophyllum Thalictrifolium)
GOLDEN SEAL (Hydrastis Canadensis)

Lady's Slipper cures cramps, spasms and convulsions, and has a specific action in painful periods, nervous twitches, chorea and epilepsy. It quiets irritability of the nervous system, and causes the mind to become calm and cheerful. Its effects are most happy in hysteria, melancholia, sleeplessness, nervous headache, excitability and sensitiveness. It is also a tonic of great power.

Black Cohosh is efficient in overcoming painful or suppressed periods, leucorrhoea, ovarian pains, bearing down feelings, and the other diseases of the uterine system; the headaches which accompany them and those of nervous origin. It is employed successfully in the treatment of nervous excitability, St. Vitus's Dance and convulsions. It is an appetizer of particular efficacy, is used in rheumatic and neuralgic troubles, and is a general as well as a uterine tonic.

Unicorn root has distinctive medicinal properties. It imparts tone and vigor to all of the reproductive organs of women, and removes diseased and abnormal conditions. It is of the greatest service in cases of falling or other displacements of the womb, and it unquestionably makes childbirth easy and safe. It is of great benefit in inflammation of the bladder, dyspepsia, nausea and loss of appetite.

Blue Cohosh prepares women for childbirth and makes them more comfortable in mind and body. It prevents miscarriages, causes labor to be easier, shorter and less painful, and diminishes the number of the days of confinement. It stops the nausea and vomiting of pregnancy and can be relied upon to produce good results in painful or suppressed periods, leucorrhoea, uterine inflammation, and all the nervous symptoms attending the diseases peculiar to women.

Golden Seal is a valuable tonic which is especially useful in all inflammatory conditions of the mucous membranes exemplified by uterine and vaginal irritations, leucorrhoea and bladder troubles. It quickly cures nausea, vomiting, indigestion and dyspepsia, and increases the appetite. It is also a regulator of the functions of the liver and the intestines.

All of these statements can be verified in detail by reference to King's American Dispensary, Bartholomew's, Scudder's and other recent standard works on the medicinal action of the native drugs of North America.

The marvellously curative effects of the special combination of these remedies in one medicine, namely,

is testified to by the unanimous praises it has received from many thousands of women, each of whom has been restored to health by it, after suffering from some one or more of the diseases peculiar to her sex. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

IS UNIQUE in that it is the ONE MEDICINE FOR WOMEN, the makers of which make confidently of their patients and tell them exactly what they are taking. This Dr. Pierce gladly does, because the remedy has thousands of cures to its credit, and is made by such an intricate process that it cannot be successfully imitated. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

IS DISTINCTIVE from purely vegetable ingredients, namely, roots gathered in the native woods and which contain the healing principles elaborated by Nature in the earth of the silent forests uncontaminated by civilization's touch. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

IS EXCEPTIONAL in that it contains ABSOLUTELY NO ALCOHOL, and is free from all narcotics and other poisonous principles, and hence can be taken by the maiden, and wife, and the elderly matron and spinster with perfect safety and the assurance that it will never establish a drug habit. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

IS PECULIAR in that it is a remedy with an experience of over one-third of a century in treating women's diseases, and is NOT A PATENT MEDICINE in any sense of the word. It is, however, a household remedy which cures ninety-eight per cent. of the cases for which it is taken, and is so firmly established in popular favor that the carping criticisms and unwarranted denunciations of those who pose as reformers and show their ignorance by acting as amateur advisers of the sick cannot undermine the people's well founded faith in it.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a non-technical medical book of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, contains many things of interest to ailing women. All of them should read it. It will be sent free on receipt of stamps to cover mailing—31 cents for cloth and 21 cents for the paper bound volume.

DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PELLETS regulate the activities of the liver and bowels safely, painlessly and surely. They are the best laxative known for sick or invalid women.
